The Carmel Pine Cone

Annexation Petition Presented

A petition requesting annexation to the City of Carmel was received by City Clerk Hugh Bayless this morning. The document was signed by 51 residents of the Walker Tract and Mission Fields.

The council will consider this request to join the city tonight and refer the matter to the Carmel Planning Commission for study and report. This is the required annexation procedure.

If the council receives a favorable report from the commission, councilmen will then vote on a resolution approving the annexation of the two county areas.

This resolution, if approved, will be sent next to the county's Local Agency Formation Commission, also the county's boundary commission.

If these bodies approve the proposed annexation, the matter will be referred back to the city council for public hearings.

Following these, the city must, if it still favors annexing the two areas, arrange for elections in both the Walker Tract and Mission Fields. A majority vote of the residents in either area favoring annexation would allow the city to adopt an annexation ordinance. This ordinance would be sent to the California secretary of state and this action would complete the annexation.

However, owners of property, amounting to half the total property value in either area, can block annexation in either area by signing a petition against annexation. A petition must be circulated in both the areas requesting annexation following the city's request for consideration of the matter by the county commissions.

If all matters are concluded favorably, the Walker Tract and Mission Fields could become a part of Carmel in a year's time.

The Walker Tract lies south of Twelfth Avenue. It is bounded by Junipero Avenue and Rio road on the west and Hatton Canyon on the east. The Mission Tract lies south of Carmel Mission Basilica.

The Walker Tract was denied admission to the city some years ago.

Tonight's City Council Agenda

The city council, tonight, will receive a request from the arts and forestry commissions asking for reconsideration of an ordinance establishing tree-cutting controls on private property. Two years ago a law to this effect was defeated.

The council will also give first reading to a revised ordinance controlling signs in the residential zone.

The report on parking problems made by a joint committee of the council and planning commission will also be on the agenda. This report recommends that developers of all new construction in the business zone must provide "off-street" parking equivalent to the spaces required for the "all-day" parking requirements of persons occupying the new premises. The report also recommends that a formula based on the floor area of new structures shall be the basis for the new parking requirements.

The council will convene at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Summer is past. Now Carmelites, as those pictured above, can enjoy the quietude of the beach at the foot of Ocean Avenue. The throngs of vacationers have gone. Soon tides, rain and winds will erase all traces of their footprints on the sand leaving a smooth surface for the Sand Castle Contest in October.

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher
No. 72

While gawking at some awesome alp, or some such foreign scene that left you thrilled — remember — suddenly your scalp went cold, then hot, your backbone crawling, chilled with guilt and fear without relent: to wonder how the folks back home made out when you took off, vacation bent, and left them flat, and helpless, too, no doubt.

For who the heck could do your job and not make helpless hash of all you'd planned? Then, conscience stricken, with a sob, you hurried home and hoped they'd understand your crass desertion wasn't meant to rub their noses in the void you left! And you could take a week next Lent when things are slack, and leave them less bereft.

So, unexpectedly you walk into the shop or office — nothing's said. Nobody stops their work to talk — you yell, "I'm back! What's up? Is someone dead?" They look surprised, as if you'd flipped. You gloat, "I'm rested; now I'm back to stay — I'm ten pounds lighter, that is, stripped!" But someone yawns, "Oh, have you been away?"

Editor's Column

In April, Carmel voters overwhelmingly approved a bond issue to purchase Sunset School from the Carmel Unified School District. The designated future use of this facility, on the ballot, was a municipal cultural and community center.

Since then, the Sunset Committee, appointed by Mayor Herbert Blanks, has studied just how such a center may be achieved after the school district abandons Sunset at the end of the current academic year.

The most desirable development, which this committee is prepared to recommend to the city council next week, is a creative arts center built and operated by a non-profit group composed of Carmel art, music and theatre organizations, for example, the Carmel Music Society, the Carmel Bach Festival, the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra Association, the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts, the Community Theatre of the (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Opening Day Enrollment Less Than At End Of Last Year In Carmel Unified School District

The big yellow buses of the Carmel Unified School District rolled up and down the Valley, along the coast, and around Carmel and Pebble Beach this morning filled with students beginning a new school year. Other students walked, were driven, rode bicycles or drove their own cars to the nine campuses in the district. When they were counted the total number of students in the district on opening day was 2657 as compared to 2709 at the end of last year.

Carmel High School enrolled 611 students. The junior high school had 641. Elementary school enrollments were Sunset, 233; Woods, 172; River, 371; Carmelo, 162; Tularcitos, 394; Captain Cooper, 56; and Palo Colorado, 17.

Medill Bair, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, says he feels "wonderful." Yesterday morning he met with all the faculties of all the schools at Carmel Junior High School for the all-faculty send-off.

The teachers were briefed by Mr. Bair and heard speeches by Dr. George J. Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College; Dr.

Robert E. Newton, president of the Carmel board of education; and Mayor Herbert Blanks of Carmel.

Judging by this meeting, and the enthusiastic responses of the teaching personnel, Mr. Bair feels he has good reason to feel elated.

He points out that the district has fewer teachers and administrators this year but all new teachers hired by the district are experienced, also the size of classes will be maintained as they were last year.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

Students returning to Carmel High School this morning found construction of a new group-teaching facility going on where seniors formerly parked their cars. This year seniors are the only class permitted to park on the campus in another location.

There were two new teachers, Samuel B. Husk and Mrs. Ethelene Ward. Both will teach English. The two part-time teachers new to the high school are Mrs. Jean Milne, instructor in Spanish, and Mrs. Virginia Crowley. (Continued on Page Sixteen)

ONLY IN CARMEL

Observed By Harry Fletcher

Visitors to Carmel, at any time of the year, not just during holiday seasons or special days, are constantly intrigued with the discovery of the "unusual" about things Carmel, and especially in the local shops, galleries, restaurants, and the rest of it. It really surprised me to find that some visitors knew more about Carmel specialties than do the majority of local residents, simply because, as one said, "We've been here so long, we just don't go prowling around." So that's where I come in. I go prowling around.

Practically everybody in California loves the ocean, and they seldom tire of going to the beach just to watch the waves roll in. And many visitors from points far inland not only like to watch the waves break on the beach, but look for good paintings to take home with them. But, good seascapes are hard to come by, really good seascapes, that is. But I find that there is a new gallery just opened in Carmel that has genuine oil paintings which can really be called magnificent seascapes, some of them six feet long, bringing the ocean right into your living room if you are fortunate enough to possess one of James Peter Cost's beautiful conceptions. He has the Seascape Gallery and Studio on Dolores between Sixth and Fifth at the corner entrance to El Prado Su Vecino. This is something you should see, before all his canvases are carried off to Kansas, Connecticut, and Cucamonga. He paints other things, too, showing some high art in still life. He and Mrs. Cost are nice people to meet, and to know.

Among all the studios in and around Carmel, what with the art and crafts running the whole gamut, it can be said that "Only In Carmel" could you find a Clock Studio, a working studio, not a collection of tangibles for sale. Alan W. Davis, who has just opened the Carmel Clock Chalet at 8th and Mission, is an artist in clock repair and rebuilding, specializing in mantel and grandfather clocks, etc. Right at this moment he has the "innards" of a big old clock mounted on a working easel, which he expects to bring back to life to delight some local family for years to come. Davis has been in the clock business for the best part of his life, and has come to Carmel to get away from the many annoyances of the big cities, and the rush, rush, rush of "too much business." He tells me that he guarantees all his work for at least one year, and is able to do this because, as a true artist, he refuses to turn out work of which he isn't duly proud. I watched him work. Carmel Clock Chalet is a valuable addition to Carmel's dedicated group of artists and craftsmen.

Carmel and Al Hood's "Shell-by-the-Sea" service station on San Carlos at Fifth received nationwide publicity in "Shell Tidings," for August, emphasizing the beauty of the site and the high efficiency of the service station attendants under the ever-watchful eye of Al Hood, proprietor. The article quoted Chairman Fred Keeble of the Carmel Planning Commission who said in a letter: "You have set an example that we hope all future service station construction in Carmel will follow." Carmel residents and visitors have quickly "caught on" to the unusually efficient and prompt service provided here, not only in filling the tank with gas and checking the oil, but in the thoroughness of their lubrication and check-up department, stressing "in and out the same day." Such dedication to the customers' needs deserves the appreciation and patronage of Carmel residents, which is borne out by the volume of traffic at "Shell-by-the-Sea," at Fifth and San Carlos.

Evening Division MPC Registration Saturday Only

Registration for fall evening division courses at Monterey Peninsula College will be held one day only—Saturday—from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the college library, according to Evening Division Dean John G. Schaub.

There is no tuition fee, except for non-residents. Students are, however, expected to purchase a student activity card for $2.50 at the time of registration, Schaub said.

Over 80 accredited lower division college classes will be offered in anthropology, art, aviation, business, business data processing, chemistry, construction technology dental assisting, distributive education, drama, economics, electronics, engineering, English, fire science technology, geography, geology, health, history, home economics, journalism, linguistics, mathematics, medical assisting, music, oceanography, philosophy, photography, physics, police science, psychology, sociology and speech.

All foreign language classes—French, German, Japanese, Russian and Spanish—will be offered as non-credit "classes for adults." If college credit is desired, arrangements may be made with the instructor and evening division dean.

Instruction for MPC's fall semester—both day and evening—begins Monday, September 14.

Persons able to play a band instrument and read music at sight are invited to join the Monterey Peninsula College concert band. Dr. Harvey Marshall, MPC music department chairman, announces.

Henry Smith, a new member of the music department, will conduct the band. He was previously a member of the San Jose State College faculty.

Persons interested in joining the band are asked to call Smith at 375-8165 previous to registering.

Goldwater-Miller Donations Will Be Accepted In Carmel

The Gladys Johnston Realty office in Pine Inn has been designated as the location in Carmel where donations will be accepted for the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Organization. Information will also be available to persons desiring such in the same location, according to an announcement by Mrs. James R. Thompson, Monterey County head of the workers for the Goldwater-Miller election.

Local persons who have endorsed the Goldwater-Miller candidacy are Dudley Swim, Mr. and Charles Richardson Jr., Howard C. Murphy, Leonard J. Fletcher, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Robert W. Hayler, Gunnar Norberg and Lloyd Armstrong.

Free Vision Tests For Pre-Schoolers

The Monterey Society for the Prevention of Blindness will conduct the first of a series of free vision screening for pre-school age children on Wednesday in the Community Room of the Monterey Public Library. Children three through five years of age will be screened from 9:30-11:30 a.m. on this date.

Vision screening of pre-schoolers is designed to discover muscle imbalance or lack of visual acuity at the earliest possible age when correction of these difficulties is most effective.

This program is carried on by women volunteers and anyone interested in participating is urged to call Mrs. Lee Whitcomb at 624-7173 before Tuesday when the next training class will be held.

Security Bank Plans To Open Office In New Monterey

The first banking office ever to be established in the New Monterey area has been approved in Washington, D.C. by James J. Saxon, Comptroller of the Currency. Mr. Saxon authorized the Security National Bank of Monterey County, the Monterey Peninsula's only remaining home-owned bank, to establish a branch on Lighthouse Avenue in New Monterey.

William A. Burkett, president of the bank, said that the New Monterey site will not be selected until suitable parking and drive-in banking facilities can be obtained. He said that the bank will continue its early American decor of the "good old days" of the bank's Pacific Grove, Carmel Rancho, Marina, and Seaside offices, and their old-fashioned policy of no service charges for accounts with a minimum balance of $500.00. He said that he believes that New Monterey residents will particularly appreciate the "person to person," no automation type of banking service, that the bank strives to give.

Ten thousand new shares of the bank's stock will be issued at $32.00 per share to increase the bank's capital for the New Monterey and recently authorized Carmel branch, Burkett said. Last January, 11,000 shares were offered to permit the establishment of the Monterey office and the stock was oversubscribed the first day.

The new stock will be sold only to depositors of the bank, Burkett said, and will be released some time in November.

BY CAROLYN ELSTOR

Ladies! Don't let those tremendous delivery trucks that block Carmel Village traffic for what sometimes seems hours on end, get in your hair! Hold your wrath! Because, these days they may be the beasts of burden, bringing the brand new Autumn and Winter fashions to town. Huge cartons have been arriving daily in our top fashion shops—from Italy, Israel, Paris and London... from New York, Chicago and southern California, where in their studios the world's great designers are in the throes of their final frantic fling. You'll dote on the new textures, the fantastic new lines and the colors. What's more thrilling than seeing new fashions? Well, wearing them!!

If you haven't already... you're a dodo if you don't! Discover the fashion "dressing room" where YOU are analyzed and dramatized. Certainly, it is off the beaten track away from the maddening crowds. Footlights and Fancy is two blocks off Ocean Avenue, on Dolores, at the Post Office lot. You will not only find highly individual models that will keep you in the spotlight from dawn to dawn, anywhere you plan to appear... the owner and her assistants are experts in making the best of what you've got—your figure, your coloring, and your budget. One-of-a-kind models... Imported knits, tweeds and flannels... sophisticated cocktail and hostess models... formal, knee to floor length... Sandals to lead him up the primrose path... jewelry and stoles and purses. You'll find designer's labels dedicated to the designing woman... you'll find clothes to suit your fancy, and attention is person-to-person in the dressing rooms of FOOTLIGHTS AND FANCY, DOLORES AND FIFTH AT THE P.O. PARKING LOT.

If you are an honest to goodness "junior miss"—or even a young-at-heart petite, Dorothea's Fall arrivals will delight you and make glad the man of your heart. I don't know which pleased me most, the beautiful colors or the lines. Greens, bronze, willow or emerald are top news. The blues, soft Capri to Renaissance (brighter than navy, softer than the old Royal) are particularly good for blondes and redheads. But the reds! Orangey pink, true petal pink, deep salmon pink... guard-man red, true scarlet and deep burgundy. Browns run all the way from vanilla (off-white) to brown so dark it's just about black. And of course, there's always black! The sheath has new seamings, goes, and surprising details... all sorts of neckline treatments, terrifically flattering. Blouson models, believe it or not, are really slimming. Skirts in both one and two-piece models are straight, pleated or A-line. Textures? Wools, knits, polyester blends, and silks. AND, don't miss the Darlene and Petti sweaters, they're exclusives in this gay meeting place of the young crowd, DOROTHEA'S, WEST SIDE OF DOLORES, JUST SOUTH OF OCEAN.

With fall fashions on your mind, you can forget all about the idea that you have to travel to a huge store to get autumn's high fashion picture and make your selections. I revelled in the terrific colors and textures and tricks I found this morning in one of Carmel's tiniest boutiques. In Per- nie's you'll find not only beautiful one-of-a-kind models... the size range is fantastic, complete ranges of Misses, Half-Sizes, and Women's up to size 46!!

The dress-and-coat ensembles are champion and can be worn with grand variation... The black crepe dress with the full length black and white diagonal tweed coat for instance. The wonderful peachy-beige wool jersey with a short, wide sleeveless jacket that might be called a shoulder cape! The superb grey flannel dress with its white jacket of looped mohair... Classic two-piece suits too, in dramatic tweeds... plus sheaths, shifts and jumpers, all so well designed, in wools, knits, and silk crepes that you'll have a terrible time resisting! For a complete picture of Fall's most talked of fashions, PERNIE'S ON DOLORES, JUST SOUTH OF OCEAN.

"Enchantment is a little girl in a Florence Eisman dress." That's what I read in The New Yorker, and in Belles and Beaus I saw with my own eyes. The butter soft cotton corduroy jumpers and frocks, feather weight wools, and velvet party models, as practical as they are poetical. A change of blouse or a bright cotton T-shirt and the jumper may go to school, or a gala party. A frilly multi-layered slip under a modishly pleated skirt is younger than springtime. Corinne Swallow, owner of this exclusive shop is an expert of long experience, and will assist you in ensembling complete wardrobes for your children. Of course you know... the coordinated wardrobe saves dollars as well as your nervous system. Don't miss the new collection of coats! Whether you are buying for the north, east, south or west, for clothes by the nation's finest designers, for boys, up to size 6x and girls to size 14; for infants and toddlers and for gifts... for enchantment, visit BELLES AND BEAUS ON SIXTH AVENUE BETWEEN DOLORES AND LINCOLN.

President Appoints Former Carmelite To Federal Board

A graduate of Carmel High School was named to a high position in the federal penal system yesterday by President Lyndon Johnson.

The President announced that Charles E. Casey, 35, will serve a six-year term on the Federal Parole Board following confirmation of Casey's appointment by the U.S. Senate.

"Pat" Casey graduated from San Jose State College in 1952 and has done postgraduate work at the University of California. He and his wife, Barbara, the daughter of Governor Edmund G. Brown of California, will leave Sacramento shortly, with their three children, to make their home in Washington, D.C.

BUSINESS ASSN. MEETING

The Carmel Business Association will hold its autumn quarterly meeting on September 17 at La Playa Hotel. A no-host cocktail hour starting at 6:30 p.m. will precede dinner at 7:30. Mrs. Isabel Tostevin is president of the association. Other officers are Malcolm Foster, vice president; Kurt J. Koebig, treasurer; and Rosemary Kramer, secretary.

In addition to the above, members of the executive committee of the association are Carl Bosholt, Phil Coniglio, Ted Fehring, Reryl Gonzales, Glen Harnish, Maynard Petersen, Pete Terso and Howard Brunn.

A change in the by-laws will be voted upon by members of the business association attending next week's meeting.

Carmel Pine Cone

I was most interested in reading, what I consider, your very foolish article in the Pine Cone saying that Carmel prices are not higher than other areas. We have had a weekend home in Carmel for seventeen years now and have been constantly annoyed at what can only be gouging in Carmel prices. For example, on one day last week I took my daughter to the movie—$3.50—the equal in Berkeley—$1.75; I bought a bottle of Sea and Ski—$1.67—the equal in Berkeley—97c; I got a hair cut—$2.25, the equal in Berkeley $1.80. Carmel total—$7.43, Berkeley total—$4.52. This is an increase of 64%!

Sincerely,
Henry Hill A.I.A.

So, I know a theatre in London where I can see a movie for 14 cents; also in Guadalajara I can get a haircut for 25 cents; in Osaka, Japan, you can eat in a restaurant for six cents. The movie I went to here in Carmel cost me $1.75 for a single seat, and it was well worth it, and a great many other people thought so, too. If I had to travel to Berkeley to save 45 cents on a haircut, I'd braid my hair and grow a beard. And as for the Sea and Ski item, inquiring at local drug stores revealed that this is what is known as a "Fair Trade" item. There is a size you can buy for $1.67, including the taxes; but you can also buy a size for 90c. Now, which size did Mr. Hill purchase? It is a further fact that the people who live here have no complaint about prices in general, and it has been suggested that we invite letters to the editor substantiating this point.

—H.W.F.

Sometimes it pays to be a pine nut like me. I got about last weekend in my unobtrusive way and saw Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor at Nepenthe; Joan Baez and Bob Dylan at the Fairgrounds; Hell's Angels in Monterey; wished Mary Osborne "Happy Birthday" at Indian Village; caught a ride on Herb Vial's boat to Stillwater Cove to see the Mercury races which didn't take place and missed the one that did. It was quite a Labor Day week-end!

Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher and Marjory Lloyd had a wordy engagement over the telephone last week. The Pine Cone had used the verb "to sculpt."

"Can't find this verb in my dictionary," was Admiral Fisher's opening shot.

Marjory retreated to her dictionary for ammunition, then sailed forth armed with the fact that "to sculpt" is a verb derived from the Italian sculpere and the Latin sculpere.

"But the Pine Cone had 'to sculpt'" said Admiral Fisher. Marjory conceded that was a poetic past tense used incorrectly and conceded the engagement, almost, to the Admiral.

They both agreed that "to sculpture" was a better verb to use as Marjory's dictionary admitted "to sculpt" was now colloquial and that isn't quite top drawer, you know.

But Marjory also turned up another definition of "to sculpt." It is as follows: "to flense, flay or mont in Berkeley. Outstanding speakers include, Dr. Ralph P. Campanale, Colonel, U.S. Air Force, (Ret.); Dr. O. T. Claggett of the Mayo Clinic, and Dr. Stewart Wolf of the University of Oklahoma.

take the skin and blubber from." From now on Marjory says she's going to watch past tenses lest she be (poetically) "sculpt" or even more horrible to think of "sculpt" by Admiral Fisher.

My medal for surviving the most hazardous holiday this summer goes to Fritz and Marjorie Wurzmans and their daughter, Andrea, who arrived home Sunday after a three-week motor trip.

First the Wurzmans suffered in the heat of Nevada. Next they slid into a ditch in a blizzard in Montana and spent long, isolated, cold and hungry hours until another motorist inched past them down the mountain road and sent a snowplow to extricate the Wurzmans' car, by this time dripping icicles and half-buried in a drift.

But that wasn't all, bowling along a Saskatchewan road, with Marjorie driving, another car passed and cut in front of the Wurzmans' car.

Marjorie swerved to avoid hitting the reckless driver, went into a skid and just missed being hit by an oncoming car. Next, the Wurzmans car went off the road and turned turtle. When it finally stopped, the Wurzmans were pinned inside.

Other motorists freed them and, fortunately, Fritz, Marjorie and Andrea were not injured, even the car when it was finally pushed up onto the road again.

After damage to the car was repaired in Saskatoon, the undaunted Wurzmans visited Banff, gloried in the beauty of Lake Louise, went on to Vancouver and then home.

I expect to see Marjorie, one of Carmel's greatest walkers, making this her "sole" means of getting about town after all this.

Original 'Heidelberg'

A postcard sent to the Pine Cone from Adele Detroit in Germany pictures the original "Heidelberg" press on which Johann Gutenberg produced the first printed Bible some 500 years ago. Adele reports that she and her husband, Lance, saw the press and the Gutenberg Bible in the Mainz museum. Adele for many years was a Pine Cone linotype operator.

The Detroiters, so far on their European trip, have spent a month in the British Isles. In England, Adele talked to Katie Schleppe, another former member of the Pine Cone staff, who is back in the United States with her husband, Wayne, and their son, Vaughn, after six years residence in England while Wayne obtained his doctorate degree in Chinese at the University of London.

Adele Detroit also reports seeing the John Gaseses in Holland.

Almost Six

Carolyn Cochran, daughter of the Guy Cochrans of Carmel Valley, will celebrate her sixth birthday on Saturday, with her mother states, the party list growing by the hour. Carolyn will become six just in time to enter first grade at Santa Catalina School for Girls. Her four-year-old sister, Diane, is a student at Mrs. Glenn Leidig's Carmel Pre-School.

New Arrival

Kenneth David who arrived August 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lisonbee of Carmel Valley. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ervan Clegg of Carmel Valley. Kenneth was greeted by three sisters, Karen, Connie and Susan, and one big brother, Alva.

Off To College

Martha A. Campbell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Campbell left early this morning for Berkeley where, as a freshman at the University of California she will participate in a two-day preview of her new collegiate home.

In its fourth year the annual associated students orientation program, called "Cal Prep" includes talks with and by key faculty members and teaming up with upper class counselors, so that the freshman may learn in advance what life is like on the 178-acre campus.

Martha graduated from Carmel High School in June '64. She is looking forward to majoring in classical subjects and Spanish.

Here Today

Mrs. Annette Zang Thorne and her children, Annette and Jamie, return to their home on Carmel Point today. They have been visiting in Denver, after attending the Perry-Mansfield camp in Steamboat Springs. Mrs. Thorne reports that in the latter town lots of people asked about Tom and Carolyn Hinsdale who left Steamboat Springs to live at Rancho Rico, Big Sur, a year ago.

Carmel Residents

Lt. Colonel Robert L. March, who has just completed a six weeks course in counter-insurgency warfare at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, has returned to duty at the Presidio of Monterey.

The Colonel and Mrs. March are residents of Carmel. A 1946 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, Colonel March states that he and Mrs. March are looking forward to a long, long stay here.

Named to Lead Drive

Included in the 50 Californians named last week to aid in financing the campaign for passage of Proposition One, the California Beaches and Parks $150 million bond issue, were five local residents.

Appointed by Harold L. Zellerbach and Edwin Pauley to lead the Northern California drive for funds to support the bond issue to alleviate the crisis facing California's overcrowded recreational facilities were Ansel Adams, Carmel Highlands; Dr. Bruce Meyer, Carmel Point; Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, Big Sur; Richard Osborne, Pebble Beach; and Mark Thomas, Monterey.

Christian Women's Club

Mrs. Clarence R. Sands, above, is a conference speaker and writer of dramas, poetry and music, also speaker for many Christian Women's Clubs of America. She has accompanied her husband on two trips around the world visiting 44 different countries, and will be guest speaker at the Monterey County Christian Women's Club luncheon on Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. in the Hyatt House, Salinas.

Special feature of the afternoon will be a fashion show. Guest soloist will be Miss Marilyn Kelley.

A free baby nursery will be provided at the United Presbyterian Church, 830 Padre Drive, Salinas.

All women are invited to attend, and may make reservations by calling Mrs. Donald Hardy 372-8973.

Town House News

The regular monthly luncheon for members of the Carmel Foundation will be held on Monday at noon. Members who have not already made reservations are urged to call Town House.

On Wednesday at 3 p.m., Nancy Ness Bowman will present two members of her Opera Workshop, Nancy Hurdle and Vince Russo, who will sing selections from "La Traviata." They will be accompanied by pianist W. Frederick Schaad. The concert will be followed by a tea. All senior citizens and their friends are invited.

On Sunday afternoon, September 20, Barbara Ward's much discussed book "The Rich and the Poor Nations" will be discussed.

To Insurance Workshop

City Councilman Stephen Grant and Mrs. Grant escaped the Carmel holiday crowds by hiding away in their cabin at White Rock, where, Mr. Grant reports, they had plenty of sunshine as well as peace and quiet.

The councilman and Victor Dee, both special agents for the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America, will attend the company's two-day Business Insurance Workshop at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco, next Wednesday and Thursday.

Back From Europe

Captain Clifford E. Wilson, Jr., the son of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson of the Robert Louis Stevenson School, has just returned from "Operation Ready to Go," the first nonstop deployment of an Air National Guard composite air strike force to Europe for summer field training.

Captain Wilson, a pilot, was one of 700 men from units in 23 states and the District of Columbia deployed to Germany in a test of readiness to move overseas in an emergency.

He is currently assigned to the 187th Air Transport Squadron at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Peter With S.F. Opera

Peter Morse of Santa Barbara, the son of John Boit Morse of Pebble Beach, has just returned from a trip to Australia and New Zealand in time to take up his duties as rehearsal director of the San Francisco Opera. The 42nd season opens tomorrow night with Maestro Francesco Molinari-Pradelli conducting "Otello."

Wedding in Denmark
 Cablegrams and airmail letters of congratulation winged their way from Carmel and Carmel Valley to the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lloyd Williams (Virginia Wheeler Street-on), daughter of Mrs. Willard Wall Wheeler and the late Mr. Wheeler of Pebble Beach.

News of the wedding, which took place recently in Copenhagen, Denmark, did not completely surprise Virginia's close friends, as the bride and groom had had bonds of mutual interests here on the Peninsula. Both have been active members of All Saints' Episcopal Church where Sidney has, as junior and then senior warden through the years, given unnumbered hours of service. In addition to activities at the same church, Virginia is a popular and active member of the Monterey Peninsula Symphony Guild and the Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Virginia and her daughter, Katherine, have been traveling in Europe since early summer.

Sidney, the son of Edd Williams of Carmel Valley, flew to Copenhagen on August 12. With Raymond, Smith of Carmel, who accompanied him, Sidney was met at the airport by his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Bohn, who were hosts to the two visitors prior to the wedding. Flying in from Paris, a day later, Virginia was greeted by the groom-to-be and the Bohns.

On Sunday, August 16, a blessing of the ring service was held in St. Alban's Anglican Church.

The wedding ceremony took place the following day in the marriage chambers of Copenhagen's ancient Town Hall with Raymond Smith of Carmel as best man and Sidney's cousins, the Bohns, acting as witnesses.

Currently motoring in Scandinavia, the Williamses will return to Carmel in mid-September to make their home in Rancho Rio Vista.

Robbed of Treasures

Janet Folsom and Ruth Downard arrived by plane in San Francisco recently following a summer tour of Europe, and were met at International Airport by Mrs. Lloyd Simpson, who drove them home to Pebble Beach.

The travelers had bought a car in Europe but upon the car's arrival in New York they found it so full of loot—clothes and gifts they had purchased abroad—that there was no room for two human beings. Miss Folsom's brother, Robin, in whose home in Connecticut the two had been visiting, offered to drive the car back to Carmel.

Robin made splendid time and reached San Francisco, registered in one of the city's major motels, parked the car in the motel lot, and went to bed.

Following a fine breakfast, Mr. Folsom dashed out to the car, eager to reach Pebble Beach and ocean breezes, also deliver the treasure. The car was empty! Smashed windows told the tale. Paris models, Italian knits, endless little gifts and precious souvenirs of a happy memorable summer, all gone.

Janet Folsom and Ruth Downard are crushed and unhappy at their loss, but their emotions are mild compared to Robin Folsom's rage and distress. The San Francisco police have little hope of tracing the thief or thieves.

'We Are Lucky Citizens'

"If I could lay my hands on my typewriter, I would sit down and write you a letter," Mrs. Harold E. Snow told the Pine Cone social editor. "We have been away from Carmel for 18 years. Now we are back to stay, I hope for years to come, and I do want to tell you of the great friendliness we have met at every turn in Carmel. We have just moved into our new home on Camino del Monte. I went round and round the block the other day, trying to park at the P.G. and E. The police officer finally caught up with me, heard my sad story and stood by while I double parked, rushed in, settled my affairs for gas and electric service and rushed out. If that officer is representative of Carmel's police force... we are lucky citizens!"

Lt. Colonel Harold E. Snow, Mrs. Snow, and their two children, "Jinks" and "Hank" have just returned from Thailand where, for three years, the colonel was a member of the U.S. Army General Staff and was awarded the Joint Services Commendation Medal.

During their stay in Bangkok, Mrs. Snow taught fifth grade in the international school there, and Jinks who will enter Carmel High School next week, gained fame for her horsemanship. (Jinks is hoping she'll find someone in Carmel or nearby whose steed needs exercise). Hank, who is 13 years old will attend Carmel Junior High School.

Colonel Snow is attached to C.D.C.E.C., Fort Ord.

Ask For Asphalt Plant At Little Sur

A preliminary investigation is being conducted by members of the Big Sur Advisory Committee (a committee appointed by the Monterey County Planning Commission) into a request for a use permit to operate an asphalt plant at the Little Sur River. Members have talked with representatives of the Madonna Construction Co., the company making application for the use permit, and with members of the Department of Fish and Game, and also with a representative of the owner of the vast Hill Ranch on which the plant would be operated. It has been learned that the proposed use would be to remove materials from the Little Sur area, such materials to be used to provide a "blanket coat" for State Highway One from the Carmel Highlands to the Big Sur community. It is intended that the asphalt plant would be placed upstream along the Little Sur River and would not be in sight of Highway One travelers. Trucking would be confined to about a 25-mile area of the highway. A public hearing on this request for a use permit will be held before the Monterey County Planning Commission, in the Board of Supervisors chambers, Salinas, on Tuesday.

Roger L. Willis

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Willis of Carmel Valley have received jubilant news from their son, Airman Roger L. Willis, who graduated from Carmel High School last June and immediately enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Having completed the first phase of his Air Force basic military training in Texas, Roger has been selected for technical training as a medical specialist at the Air Training Command (ATC) school at Greenville, Mississippi.

Mrs. Willis is a retired trained nurse. Her brother, Roger's uncle, Dr. Donald Sanders, is a specialist in Salem, Oregon, and Roger had thought for some time of training for the medical profession. He, as well as his parents, are elated about his new assignment. Roger hopes to get leave and be at home for Christmas.

based in the Philippine Islands. Wayne, a member of the U.S. Air Force was at Cannon Air Force Base near Clovis, New Mexico, at the time of the incident in the Gulf of Tonkin in the China Sea. Within 30 minutes after the news was received, Wayne Dengate and his unit were in flight to the new base. Wayne's twin brother, William, is presently in officers training school at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Younger brother, Willard, is employed with the General Fireproofing Company in San Luis Obispo.

Mr. Ralph Dengate is in charge of the Big Sur maintenance station of the Division of Highways. It is the work of the members of the maintenance station "to maintain the State Highway as close to its original construction as possible," says Mr. Dengate, "and to do such emergency repairs as are necessary to provide for the safety of the public." Realignment, resurfacing, new construction, etc., are taken care of by the Division of Highways through special contracts.

Alvin Brazil, Paul Hettich and Jim Somerville, together with Mr. Dengate, form a four-man crew whose responsibility it is to maintain Highway One from Garapata Creek to Anderson Canyon, also maintain roads within Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur. Two or more times each month, the crew picks up litter along the highway. The collection usually consists of two truckloads full of beer cans, bottles, cigarette wrappers, etc., that the public has thoughtlessly or willfully tossed from their vehicles as they drive along the highway through the beautiful coastal country.

The men at the Big Sur maintenance station have each served there a number of years. Mr. Dengate has 19 years of service with the state highway division. Prior to coming to Big Sur about a year ago, Mr. and Mrs. Dengate lived at Shandon, Morro Bay and San Luis Obispo.

The Big Sky Singers of Missoula, Montana, have recently concluded a six weeks engagement at Redwood Lodge, Big Sur. The group, four college men, all recent graduates of the University of Montana at Missoula, include Jack Ryan, their leader, and Bruce Innes, Doug Smith and Dave Skiles. "One might compare their style to the famous Kingston trio—they sang everything from rock and roll to the old-time ballads," according to Warren Squires, one of the owners of Redwood Lodge. The group performed four nights each week, and it was during their Big Sur entertainment contract that they signed with Dot Records to make recordings for that company. Since leaving Big Sur they were auditioned at Harrah's Club Reno and are presently fulfilling an engagement at the Exodus Club in Denver, Colorado. Other appearances have included those at the Hungry i in San Francisco. Owners of the Redwood Lodge learned of the popular singing group through a writer for the National Observer, a weekly newspaper published Mondays at Chicope Falls, Massachusetts; Silver Springs, Maryland; and Chicago, Illinois. Within the next two weeks the National Observer will carry a story on The Big Sky Singers.

Nearing completion on the Sur Coast at Dolan Creek, is an unusual and attractive all-redwood house, owned by Mrs. Mary Hudson of Partington Ridge. The building is 12-sided, giving the appearance of a circular construction. There are no cross beams or supporting members on the interior to obstruct the sweeping view of the sea and north and south along the coastal bluffs. Architect Francis Palms, Jr. of Monterey designed the house to take full advantage of the beautiful location on which it is situated and it has been built to withstand the 90 miles an hour winds that sometimes blow along that exposed section of the coast. Clarence St. Clair of Pacific Grove is the general contractor. Materials used in construction are old bridge timbers taken from the Dolan Creek bridge which was recently replaced with a new pre-stressed concrete bridge. The timbers have been cut into two-inch thick boards for exterior walls and one-inch thick boards for the interior walls, thus producing a strong, well-insulated structure. A unique feature of Mrs. Mary Hudson's new home will be a garden, in a sheltered, shady area underneath the house.

Word has recently reached Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dengate of Big Sur that their son, Wayne is now

Art News

The Feingarten Galleries in Los Angeles have sent out a reproduction, in color, of a painting by John Bolt Morse to announce the one-man show of his work which opens in Southern California on Monday and will continue to be shown through October 10.

The painting reproduced in the announcement is entitled "Alamos." This picture shows Mr. Morse's strong, yet sensitive, mastery of color in composition employing dramatic contrasts.

He lived, during several past winters, in the old Mexican mining town which is the subject of this picture.

An invitational preview of the Morse show will be held on Sunday. The Los Angeles show is the third Feingarten exhibition of Mr. Morse's work. He previously has had Feingarten Galleries shows in Carmel and San Francisco. His work is exhibited in Carmel in New Paintings, a gallery in the Mall on San Carlos Street just north of Seventh Avenue, and he is a member of the Carmel Art Association.

Starting on Tuesday, the Monterey chapter of the American Federation of Arts will exhibit Victorian hand-colored lithographs by Joseph Nash of Windsor Castle in A.F.A. headquarters on Lincoln Street south of Ocean Avenue. These lithographs are being loaned for the Carmel exhibition by the Achenbach Foundation for Graphic Arts at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor.

This exhibition will be displayed through October 8.

Paul Mills, director of the Oakland Municipal Art Museum, will judge entries in the first annual Monterey County Painting Show sponsored by the local A.F.A. chapter. All artists who are residents of Monterey County are eligible to compete for three prizes of $300 each. In addition, a one-man show will be awarded one of the prize winners at the A.F.A. gallery. Further information and entry blanks may be obtained at A.F.A. headquarters.

In the four months since their arrival on the Peninsula as residents of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, artist Albert E. Wascher and Mrs. Wascher have gone far to establish themselves as active citizens of the community.

A water colorist as well as a painter in oils, Mr. Wascher was for many years active head of the Oakland Art Materials Supply Company. Now retired, he still, however, heads the company.

A member of the Society of Western Artists, of which he was president in 1963, Mr. Wascher was founder and first president of the Oakland Art Association and, for several years, art supervisor of Alameda County Fair. Graduate of the California College of Arts and Crafts, he studied for three and a half years under the famed Robert Rishell and his canvases have appeared in five Society of Western Artists Shows in the De Young Museum.

Mr. Wascher is surprised and disappointed at the scarcity of artists at work on the Carmel beach and on the dunes. His special interest is in sea and landscapes. He is particularly interested in forming groups of painters, working in pastels or oils, and desirous of setting up their easels out-of-doors. "I'll be happy to give instruction to beginners and 'intermediates' who wish help," Mr. Wascher said, "Surely in Carmel, renowned across the world for its artists, such groups should be organized!"

Mrs. Wascher, as well as her husband, is an enthusiastic gardener and it was shortly after their arrival here that they were awarded the $200 prize for roadside beautification, due to the beauty of their garden at the corner of Pioneer and Valdez Roads, in the country club area of Pebble Beach.

Mr. Wascher invites artists to call him at his home (375-1241).

The Castle Art Gallery in Santa Cruz, through September, will show recent paintings of Reuben B.B., a Californian born in Fresno, who now paints and lives in San Francisco.

After service in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, Reuben B.B. studied art at the University of California, San Francisco Art Institute and privately with Martin Snipper, A. Weiner, Al Cunningham and Trudie Brooks.

He is affiliated with the Society of Western Artists, Artists Associated, Artists Guild of San Francisco.

San Francisco, Diversified Art League and is a member of the board of directors of the Artists Cooperative. He has had four one-man shows in San Francisco. His work is represented in private collections throughout the United States, also in England, Canada and South America.

"Art should be a stimulant, not a pacifier," is the opinion of Harry Murphy, an abstract painter who employs bold, colorful technique to convey "exciting, dramatic, versatile ideas." On Saturday he opened the Harry Murphy Studio-Gallery in Carmel Highlands just above Highlands Inn. The gallery will be open daily from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. including Sundays and holidays. Special showings by appointment may be arranged by telephoning 624-7057 before 6 p.m. Architects, interior designers and decorators are especially invited by Mr. Murphy to see the work at his studio-gallery.

Episcopal School Opening Ceremony

Toddlers, dignified as only a four-going-on-five year olders can be, plus boys and girls, first to sixth graders, with shining faces and arrayed in those precious "first day of school clothes" walked decorously into All Saints' Episcopal Church at 9:30 o'clock this morning for the service preceding the opening, for the fourth year, of All Saints' Episcopal Day School.

The Reverend Peter Farmer, headmaster since the school's inception, presented the school staff which includes Mrs. David Lane, executive assistant; Miss Eleanor Ziel, curriculum advisor; Mrs. Donald Kellerman, kindergarten; Mrs. George Fraser, first grade; Mrs. Eugenia Nelson, second grade; Miss Marilyn Kudell, third grade; Miss Ann Sewell, fourth grade and Miss Evelyn Smith, fifth and sixth grade.

French is taught through all grades, including kindergarten, by Mrs. Arthur Hoverland and Mrs. Harriet Cowan.

Latin, in fifth and sixth grades, is taught by Father Farmer.

School sessions are held in the former Community Hospital annex, southwest corner of Santa Fe and Pico, pending the completion of the new school buildings on the church's seven-acre property up Carmel Valley about five miles east of Highway One.

Classes are limited to 20 students each. Kindergarteners must have reached the ripe age of four years plus nine months. Boys and girls a few weeks or months under age may take eligibility tests.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3831.

Shakespeare Comedy Opens Tomorrow At Circle Theatre

Eighteen actors will combine tomorrow evening to re-tell a tale which has held audiences spell-bound for almost four centuries. William Shakespeare's "The Tempest," a comic fable of virtue and vengeance on a desert island, opens the fall season at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre with a notable cast.

Frederick Rider and Anne Penoyer are the Prospero and Miranda of this production, father and daughter marooned on an isle inhabited by monsters and spirits. Nick Zanides is cast as the primitive Caliban, and Rosamond Goodrich as Ariel, an invisible sprite.

Major comic roles will be in the hands of Dick Vreeland, as the drunken butler, Stephano, and Nick Hovick as the clown, Trinculo. The more distinguished members of their party, shipwrecked on the island as the play begins, are the King of Naples, played by Ron Roberts, the Duke of Milan, played by Irving Rogers, and the old lord Gonzalo, played by Clancy Van Horn. Keith Decker and Dwight Marshall are cast as the King's brother and an attendant.

Terry Poland, as Ferdinand, crown prince of Naples, woos and wins Miranda. Their betrothal is celebrated in a masque performed by Penelope Nesbitt, Layne Littlepage and Mag Merrick, as spirits of the island.

Van Marsh is cast as the boatswain of the doomed ship on which the first scene of the play takes Because her husband, Congressman Burt L. Talcott, is detained in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Talcott, above, is campaigning for his reelection in November. She was here today to talk to the board of directors of the Carmel Republican Women's Club. Other appearances for Mrs. Talcott are scheduled in Monterey, San Luis Obispo and Santa Cruz counties.

place. The ship's master is played by John Toliver, and one of the mariners by Chris Hovick.

Many of the magical effects required by Shakespeare's colorful story have been created with the help of designer Barbara Tripp, harpsichordist Ken Ahrens and recorder player Robert Bouchard. The entire production is under the supervision of Vosco Call, guest director from Utah State University.

Governor To Open Local Democratic Campaign Monday

California Governor Pat Brown will open the Monterey County Democratic Campaign for President Johnson and other Democratic candidates at a dinner at the Monterey County Fairgrounds at 7 p.m. on Monday.

Dr. Robert Bowersox, chairman of the Monterey County Central Committee, announces that the occasion will also mark the official launching of the Sanford Bolz for Congress, Senator Fred Farr for re-election to the State Senate and Irby Bourriague for Assembly campaigns.

Each of the candidates will present a brief summary of their campaign plans. Senator Pierre Salinger will be represented by his county chairman, Charles Page.

Miss Dodds, general chairman of the event, anticipates a capacity crowd so reservations should be made early.

All Democrats are invited to attend.

County Symphony To Rehearse, Audition in Carmel Monday

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will hold its first rehearsal of the 1964-65 season
Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in Sunset Auditorium.

Immediately preceding the rehearsal, at 7 p.m., Conductor John Gosling will audition all musicians interested in joining the orchestra.
Mr. Gosling states that there are openings for all players in all sections of the orchestra with a special need for good string players. New residents in the community, as well as those who have not been active in the orchestra recently, are encouraged to participate.

The orchestra, representing a wide cross section of both the county and community will open its nineteenth season October 26-27 with concerts in Salinas and Carmel respectively. Advance ticket sales indicate that the symphony will enjoy its most popular series to date with a season sell-out scheduled for the Sunset series and vastly increased sales already registered in Salinas.

Two rarely produced musical works, Menotti's "The Unicorn, the Gorgon, and the Manticore" and Stravinsky's "The Soldier's Tale," will close White Oaks Theatre's summer season playing tonight through Sunday in Carmel Valley's new theatre building.

"The Unicorn," patterned after the Italian madrigal comedy of the late sixteenth century, integrates three different performing arts. A full nine-piece chamber orchestra will provide a background against which the chorus tells a story as dancers give a visual presentation through both dance and pantomime.

Musicians, dancers and singers will be imported from the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas for the White Oaks production which will be conducted by Chris Nance and choreographed by Gale Peterson. Costumes are being designed by San Francisco artist, Leonardo Curyal de la Santa.

Producer is Sally Hughes Church.

Written in 1916, "The Soldier's Tale" is a stage work to be "narrated, acted out, and danced." It is scored for a few instruments and employs only two or three actors.

How To Climb El Capitan In Several Easy Lessons

A CLIMBER'S GUIDE TO YOSEMITE VALLEY, by Steve Roper, is the latest in the Sierra Club's series of climbing guides, which now cover most of the major climbing areas of the west.

This delightfully illustrated book, is small enough for the pocket, 5x7½. It details and charts each of the popular rocks in this enchanting area, outlines routes, techniques and equipment for each scramble, besides classifying each section of each route in the degree of difficulty encountered, and listing alternatives.

This reviewer has a life-size picture of himself, perched on a precarious ledge somewhere high on the sheer face of El Capitan, with no place to go but up (or down), hanging on by my elbows while I turn to Page 58 to see what I do next. "From Triangle Ledge climb up varied rock to a belay miles south of Carmel on Highway One. This bridge replaces the old wooden bridge built in 1936.

One-half mile of approaches on new alignment lead onto the bridge which has three-foot sidewalks. Cost of the project was $465,000.

spot just under the left edge of a large ceiling, the Half Dollar
... Two long, difficult class-5 pitches lead to Mammoth Terraces. From its west end rappel from a tree."

However, if you don't have the time just now to make this or any other "scramble," as we mountaineers say, just buy the book and look at the pictures. If you aren't subject to claustrophobia, or agoraphobia, or something you can experience all the thrills of traverses, pendulums, rappeling, nailing, and "looking for a prominent fir tree, then climb up through this tree to ..."

The blurb on the jacket of this well-printed book (which could be a marvelous conversation piece on any coffee table) states that "a list of needed equipment and a glossary of climbing terms is attached. The whole is enhanced by 40 of the best Yosemite climbing photographs ever assembled, and with 14 attractive line drawings indicating the routes of major climbing sectors."

Steve Roper, the author, is 22.
He began his climbing career at Indian Rock in Berkeley at the age of 13. Since 1959 he has devoted almost full time to rock climbing. As he puts it, he is presently "gainfully employed" in the United States Army.

Pop's Visitors

Enroute to Oakland from Bakerville, Judy Smith, daughter of photographer George T. C. Smith, stopped in Carmel for a visit with her grandfather, "Pop" Smith. Judy will commence nurses training at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital next week.

Pop is looking forward to the arrival of his niece, Kathleen McLean, from London, England. It will be Miss McLean's first visit to the United States and Pop plans to make her stay in Carmel the high point of her trip.

Open House At Manse

The Reverend Lawrence K. Whitfield, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, and Mrs. Whitfield, will hold open house at the Manse, their home at the corner of Lincoln and Eleventh, on Sunday afternoon. Members of the church are cordially invited to view the house and see the extensive renovation completed by the board of trustees and their helpers.

Summer Visitors

The spacious home of Mrs. Daniel B. Leininger has been happily crowded to the doorsill with summer visitors, all of them "family."

Mrs. Leininger's son, Colonel Daniel M. Leininger, U.S.A. Engineers, currently acting as aide to the governor in the Panama Canal Zone, traveled from Panama with his wife and their three children, Daniel, Janet, and Lisa, for an extended visit in Carmel.

Colonel A. S. Bowen, Jr., (U.S. Air Force, ret.), an ace of World War II, with Mrs. Bowen (Mrs. Leininger's daughter) and their son David, came up from San Bernardino to visit Mrs. Leininger and also to see the colonel's father, Colonel A. S. Bowen, (USA ret.) who lives in Carmel Valley.

The most recent arrivals were bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Albanese of San Bernardino. Mrs. Albanese is the former Sidney Anna Bowen, granddaughter of Mrs. Leininger of Carmel, and Colonel Bowen of Carmel Valley.

New Arrival

Bringing the total to a jolly half-dozen, Nicholas Crawford Glaser, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Glaser, arrived on September 2, weighing 8 pounds, 8 ounces. Upon arrival home he was greeted by a quartette of sisters, Elizabeth, Margaret, Katherine and Mary, and one brother, James. James M. R. Glaser of Pebble Beach is the young man's paternal grandfather. Mrs. Anthony Haberl of Palo Alto is his maternal grandmother.

Honor OES Officers

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts entertained the Worthy Matrons and the Worthy Patrons of districts 44 and 45, of the Order of Eastern Star of California, at dinner in their home on Sunday evening.

Enjoying the elaborate buffet and exquisite flower arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Feliz of Salinas; Mr. and Mrs. William Littledale and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miskow of Watsonville; Mr. and Mrs. George Lincoln of Aptos; Mr. and Mrs. Logan Bachar of Gilroy; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shaffer, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ansell of Santa Cruz; Mr. and Mrs. William McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cash of Castroville; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flynn of Pacific Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warner of King City; Mr. and Mrs. George Reed of Monterey and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook of Carmel.

Assisting the hostess were her son and daughter, David and Nancy, and their two young friends, Joanne Pegmore and Robert Meyer.

Everyone Invited To Youth Center Tomorrow Night

The night that every teen-ager in Carmel has been looking forward to has just about arrived! And it's a night for adults, too.

The Carmel Youth Center's 14th annual Open House will be held tomorrow night, 7:30 to 11 p.m., with the Imperials five-piece band blasting their best for dancing. Carmel High School cheerleaders and songleaders will rally round, greeting new students, their parents, and friends.

Jack Giles, youth center director, wants everyone in Carmel to know that they are invited to join the fun. "The September Open House has always been a good sample of the week-end fun that continues at the center all through the school year," Mr. Giles states.

Youth Board officers nominated for 1964-65 are: President, Pam Baldwin; vice president, Larry Little; secretary, Linda Carstensen; treasurer, Sue Snow; historian, Diana Fischer. Sergeants-at-arms, Ty Seeders and Joanne Thompson; activities chairmen, Jean Tweedie and Terrie Stier.

Also freshman representatives, Tia Hennessy and Randy Newman; sophomore representatives, Susie DuBets and Ron Parsons; junior representatives, Dan Albert and Susie Draper, and senior representatives, Deanna Ireland and Roger Ellis.

Harriet Dean

Miss Harriet Dean, a resident of Carmel Point since 1938, died early Tuesday morning in the home which she shared with her close friend, Mrs. Elsie W. Martinez.

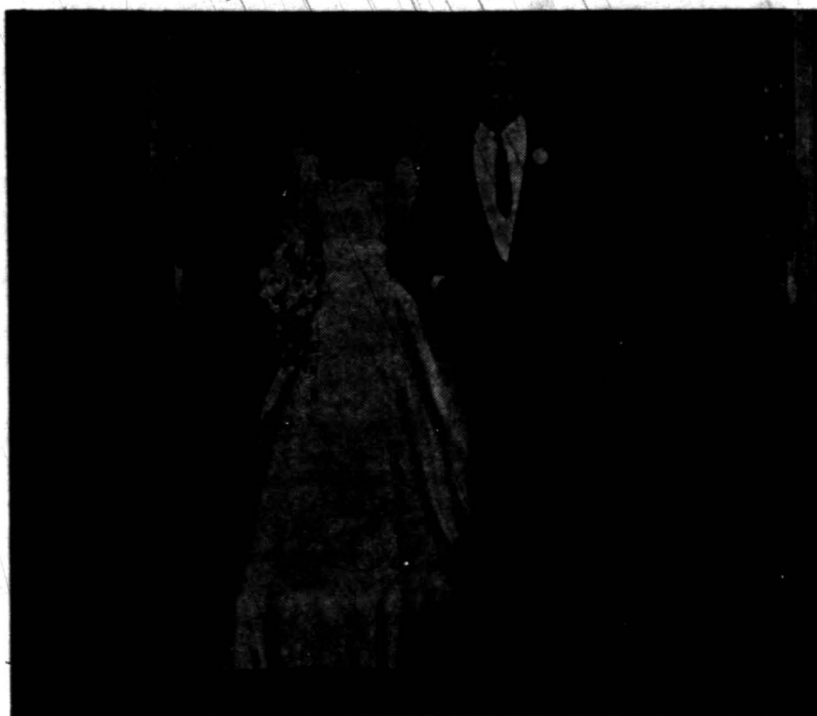

Known to her many friends as "Pal," Miss Dean has long been active in music and art circles here, until illness prevented her some months ago from continuing these activities.

Miss Dean was born in Indianapolis, Indiana, on April 19, 1892. Widely traveled and a talented writer, prior to coming to Carmel Miss Dean was associated with The Little Review, a distinguished magazine devoted to the arts.

During the years of World War II, Miss Dean gave unstintingly of her time and talent to the U.S.O. Hundreds of recruits undergoing training at Fort Ord enjoyed the hospitality of the Dean-Martinez home on Carmel Point.

Miss Dean was, for years, actively engaged in the work of Carmel Mission Basilica and was designated an extern of the Carmelite Monastery.

She is survived by her cousin,

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hunter, III, leaving All Saints' Episcopal Church, following their wedding ceremony. —Cook's Photography, Salinas

Kathleen Henderson of Carmel and William C. Hunter, III, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hunter of Pebble Beach, were married in All Saints' Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoon, at six o'clock. The ceremony was performed before the altar—decorated with great brass bowls of white chrysanthemums and tall tapers—by the Reverend Peter Farmer, with Robert Forbes at the organ.

Kathleen was given in marriage by her father, Vern Henderson. Her chapel-length gown of white satin was fashioned with a long-sleeved fitted bodice of scalloped re-embroidered chantilly lace that also detailed the A-shape skirt. The bride wore (as something old) the veil worn by her sister at her wedding; of illusion net, it was held by a wreath of pearls and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Richard Muniz, Jr., sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Miss Susan Hunter, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Julie Campbell and Miss Sue Wood of Arcadia were the bridesmaids. All four attendants wore floor-length gowns of willow green satin and carried cascade bouquets of pink roses.

The bridegroom's best man was G. Bayley Dorris of Pacific Grove. Ushers were Richard M. Muniz, Jr., of Pacific Grove, John Rodgers of Fontana and Boyd Hunter of Lafayette.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Henderson chose a beige ensemble and wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Hunter, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink ensemble with matching hat and a corsage of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a champagne reception was held at the Beach Club, Pebble Beach. The bride's table, where Kathleen and William cut their four-tiered cake, was centered with white massed flowers and tall candles. Small guest tables were lighted by hurricane lamps, surrounded by flowers in variegated colors.

For her wedding trip to Northern California, Mrs. Hunter wore a powder blue suit dramatized by black patent leather accessories.

The young couple will make their home in San Jose, where William, who has been a student at the University of Michigan, will continue his studies at San Jose State College.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Knuth of San Rafael; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter and family from Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Boyd of Piedmont. Also, William Cooper, of Saratoga; Larry Dorsey of South Gate; Robert Fuller, of San Francisco and Charles Mahan, of Los Angeles.

Edward Dean of Carmel and Mrs. Raymond A. Spruance of Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

Requiem Mass was celebrated at ten o'clock this morning in Carmel Mission Basilica, followed by burial in Monterey Roman Catholic Cemetery.

The Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The life of Abraham will be reviewed next Sunday at Christian Science churches to show how "faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Heb. 11).

The subject of the Bible Lesson is "Substance," and the Golden Text is from Galatians 3: "They which be of faith are blessed with faithful Abraham."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include a description of Abraham as an example of "Fidelity; faith in the divine Life and in the eternal Principle of being. This patriarch illustrated the purpose of Love to create trust in good, and showed the life-preserving power of spiritual understanding" (p. 579).

New Play Next Week At Studio

September 18 will be opening night at The Studio Theatre for "Sunday in New York," written by Norman Krasna, one of America's masters of comedy. Youth and romance are the topics, but while the situations are hilarious and the possibilities often "risque," the end result is reassuringly moral and highly entertaining.

Producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin announce the appointment of director, Michael Keller, to stage "Sunday in New York," as well as the productions for the forthcoming winter season at The Studio. Mr. Keller received his training at Northwestern University and Pasadena Playhouse. He has worked with such theatre luminaries as Fay Bainter, Lotte Lenya, Miss Billie Burke, Judith Evelyn, Zasu Pitts, Gale Gordon, Hugh O'Brian and Edward Everett Horton.

"Sunday in New York" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock. Dinner is served from 6:30 to 7:30 at the Studio.

Opening Day Enrollment Less Than Last Year

home economist. Back after a year's sabbatical leave are Donald Craig, instructor in Spanish, and Miss Nellie Jane Ryder, librarian.

Principal Warren Edwards says he is pleased with the academic outlook at the high school this year. He says the school has a better staff, better class size, more offerings in the total program including enlarged vocational education opportunities, and there will be more study centers than last year. Instead of one large study center, as many as six, when possible, will be provided in temporarily unoccupied classrooms. Up to 30 students will work in each center supervised by a teacher.

English teachers will teach four classes only each day, instead of the five in previous years. This, Mr. Edwards believes, will permit even more emphasis on written work. Advanced placement classes in American history and chemistry are offered this year.

"The total picture looks good," he declares.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

"I have never seen a more enthusiastic faculty," Carmel Junior High School Principal Dan Yurkovich declares. With this advantage he is looking forward happily to the academic year which began this morning. Grouping this year in all grades will permit students with compatible interests and backgrounds to work together, he says. This is the last year the junior high program will be followed. Next year the school at the entrance to Carmel Valley will become a fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade facility.

SUNSET SCHOOL

At an assembly today at Sunset School, Principal Orville Rogers told the five fifth grades and five sixth grades comprising the student body that they were the last group to attend Sunset.

He urged them to make this, therefore, the best year in Sunset's history.

Ungraded instruction in three areas, mathematics, reading and English, will be provided at Sunset this year. Grouping will be more flexible than last year when this type of program was piloted. The increased flexibility will permit the shifting of individual pupils into any of ten groups. This will provide special work in any area when needed.

There are two new teachers at Sunset, Mrs. Mary Armstead and Miss Nancy Loyd. They will both teach fifth grades. Transfers are Dick Lawitzke and Bob Douglas who will both teach sixth grades. Mrs. Raymond Kelly will be the librarian.

WOODS SCHOOL

Mrs. Anna Kohner is the principal of River School this year, also of Carmelo School in the Valley.

She says she has a marvelous staff to work with in both schools and expects an exciting and interesting year. Cross-grade grouping will be instituted at Woods this year in grades two through four. Mrs. Katherine Holmgren will teach a combined third and

Sunset Committee Votes On Interim Report For City Council Next Week

During two and a half hours of lively discussion and systematic scrutiny, members of the Sunset Committee, Tuesday night, revised and voted on recommendations included in the preliminary draft of an interim report. As it left the committee Tuesday, the report will be presented to the city council, in a joint meeting with the committee, on Tuesday night.

A recommendation by Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels proposing the formation of a coordinating arts council received the most attention. In the end, by one vote, the motion to recommend the formation of such a council was defeated.

Mrs. van Loben Sels repeatedly stressed the need for a coordinating group to ascertain what groups wish to use the Sunset site when it becomes a municipal cultural and community center. She also emphasized the necessity of all such groups working together, through the council, to develop an harmonious architectural complex. Cooperation between all groups is necessary also, she said, for financing the center, its planning and development.

Later she added that she was resigning from the Sunset Committee on the advice of her physician and, as she was attending her last meeting, had striven to obtain what she thought was the most essential measure to recommend to the council, if the center is ever to develop and obtain foundation grants or other donations.

She also opposed placing the city hall and municipal governmental offices on the center site. This too was defeated by one vote.

Mrs. van Loben Sels maintained it would be uneconomic and un-fourth grade at Woods. Last year she was the district's remedial reading specialist. Mrs. Margaret Gildesgaard is a new first grade teacher at Carmelo. Miss Mary Stewart Hoopes is the secretary at Woods this year.

RIVER SCHOOL

There are two new teachers at River School. Mrs. Shirley Taylor will teach a second grade and Miss Jean Bushnell a first. Mrs. Dorothy Reading will be in charge of the River library which is expected to pass the 5,000-book mark this year. Tom Hamill has returned to River from Sunset.

Principal Richard O'Connell says individual instruction provided in the school's program last year will continue this year with even more emphasis on creative writing.

PART OF LIBRARY CLOSED THIS WEEK
Because the children's room, also the young people's room, at the Harrison Memorial Library are being painted, these two areas will be closed the rest of this week. Mrs. Ruth Galvin Thornburg, head librarian, announces.

esthetic to place the city hall and municipal administration offices at Sunset.

In addition, she emphasized that placing the city hall on the Sunset site would endanger the development of the property as a cultural center by perhaps blocking grants from foundations or similar financing.

Next week the report to the council will recommend that the Sunset site, when city property, could be developed with a 1500-seat auditorium, art-gallery museum; arts and crafts workshops; lecture hall and meeting room; branch library, city hall and municipal administrative offices; offices needed for compatible uses; children's athletics and playground; and a parking garage. These uses are not listed in order of preference, the report states.

The police station, fire house, street department headquarters and corporation yard are undesirable uses of the Sunset site, the report adds.

Formation of a non-profit corporation which will enter into a long-term contract with the city to lease the Sunset site, then build and operate a center until its contract terminates, following this turn the center over to the city unencumbered, is recommended in the report as the most desirable method for financing the center.

Other recommendations are continuation of the Sunset Committee; sufficient rental be paid to the city to cover any repairs desired by any group wishing to use part of the center—or the group pay for its own repairs; on ly minimum rehabilitation work be undertaken on the auditorium; present buildings, facilities and grounds should be used to their capacity until they interfere with

Shore Leave In New York

Danny E. Wood, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley P. Wood of Carmel Valley, a seaman aboard the USS Arcturus, has written his parents of leave in New York City; a day's visit to the fair; and promotion to an office job on his ship. Danny enlisted in the U.S. Navy two years ago. He is looking forward to a 30-day home leave in February, to get acquainted with his five-month-old sister, Colleen Ann, whom he has never seen.

Monteire Peninsula.

Are these "Carmel organizations?"

Each and every one of them has on its board of directors many persons who do not live within the one square mile area of Carmel. Financial support for each of the organizations, also musicians, actors and artists essential to the success of their activities, come, in a large degree, from areas outside the city limits. The offerings of each organization are patronized, in an even larger degree, by persons from outside Carmel.

Not one of these organizations could continue to exist as a solely "Carmel organization."

The finance subcommittee of the Sunset committee has estimated that it will take approximately $2 million for Carmelites to obtain the municipal cultural and community center they envisioned when they voted in April.

The city legally can assume bonded indebtedness up to this amount. It can also legally tax to maintain such a center. However, the Sunset Committee recommends the most desirable developmental procedure would be for the city to lease the Sunset new construction; some or all of the existing buildings may have to be abolished.

site to the non-profit group and have this group finance, build and maintain the center, then eventually turn it over, unencumbered, to the city.

This procedure would free all Carmel property owners from, perhaps, to many of them, burdensome taxation and indebtedness. In a number of years, in this manner, the city would, indeed, achieve a municipal cultural and community center.

However, if this is to be accomplished, the word "community" on the ballot will have to be broadened to include not only Carmel, but also the rest of Monterey Peninsula, Carmel Valley, Salinas, and possibly other cities in Monterey County.

In the past, Carmel has furnished the leadership for cultural development in this county and, in so doing, gained nationwide recognition. But this was only accomplished with assistance from "outside."

The time is here, now, for all Carmelites to think, deeply. Do they want to selfishly jeopardize the cultural future of this town, or do they want to be leaders in a venture that will even more enhance what Carmel has been in the past?

It is not a time for strictly "municipal community" thinking unless Carmel property owners want, themselves, to pay for a $2 million cultural center. —M.L.
